Hockey FAQ

- Q If a participant has never skated before, what class should he/she sign up for?
A Our programs are designed to accommodate any person, of any age, who would like to learn to skate. Each participant is different, but we recommend the beginner start at the chair hockey or rink rat level. Our instructor can then determine whether he/she should be in a different level.
- Q Will participants be taught how to skate?
A Of course!
- Q Can parents go out on the ice with their participant?
A In Chair Hockey, parents must go on the ice with their participant. For all other classes, only students and instructors are allowed on the ice.
- Q What equipment will participants need to play hockey?
A The Junior IceHogs lesson program provides free helmets and skates for participants to use. Chair Hockey and Rink Rats require protective elbow and knee pads. Ter-mites 1-2 and Learn to Play Hockey require hockey-style shin pads, elbow pads, and hockey gloves. Learn to Play Hockey participants also need their own stick. Hockey pants, or breezers, are recommended, but not required.
- Q Should participants purchase pads and hockey gloves even if they are just learning?
A Hockey pads and gloves are recommended, but not required. We've found the more protected participants are, the less it will hurt when they fall, leading to increased confidence and best of all, more fun!
- Q How should participants dress?
A It is recommended that participants wear sweatpants or athletic pants (shin pads go underneath them), a warm sweatshirt, and winter or hockey gloves.
- Q If participants miss a session, can it be made up in one of the other classes?
A We do our best to accommodate. Simply talk to the instructor to give them a heads up!
- Q How many instructors per participant?
A We strive to keep our student/teacher ratio at 6:1. Several instructors are on the ice to help participants.
- Q Who are the instructors? What are their qualifications?
A Our instructors are all highly experienced kid-oriented, hockey-minded coaches.
